Fortress Europe Dispatches From A Gated Continent:

Fortress Europe Matthew Carr, 2012-09-04 Looks at the status of immigration in the world's most affluent region examining issues and the human cost of an immigration crisis across Europe in which tens of thousands of migrants have died Modern European Borders in Fiction Andrew Hammond, 2025-09-18 There are few features of the contemporary world more significant than national and regional borders. In modern Europe the practices of human division have defined the continent from the early years of the Cold War to the present barriers of Fortress Europe whose exposure of irregular migrants to trafficking, discrimination and deportation is rarely absent from the daily news. Modern European Borders in Fiction offers a comprehensive study of literary responses to the topic. Through reference to over 600 novels and short stories, Andrew Hammond analyses the wide-ranging engagement of post-1945 novelists with the ideologies, processes and effects of territorialisation, as well as the related issues of military conflict, migration, populism, nationalism and regionalism. Among the topics under study are the ideological divisions of the Cold War, the closed societies of totalitarian communism, the labour migrations of the 1950s and 1960s, the tightening of border controls from the 1970s, the twenty-first century war on migration, the official restrictions on borderland communities, the conflicts in Bosnia, Georgia and Ukraine, and the patterns of social segregation that have marked the continent from the Second World War to the present. Drawing on theoretical work in the social sciences and the humanities, this is a ground-breaking contribution to European literary studies, establishing the importance of continental border writing and opening up fresh avenues for decolonised teaching and research.

The Global Illusion of Citizen Protection Robert Mandel, 2018-07-11 This book comprehensively analyzes the global illusion of citizen protection so common today. This text helps students understand a central puzzle in human security which has two distinct components: 1. although it might be reasonable to assume that political leaders' threat responses would almost always have a decent chance of safeguarding the mass public, sometimes they do not, exhibiting rhetoric, reality gaps and purely symbolic gestures; and 2. although the wealth of security information available to the mass public would seem to provide them with the opportunity to gain almost always an accurate picture of existing dangers and state threat responses, sometimes citizens' evaluation of their own safety is grossly distorted, exhibiting an overly extreme sense of helplessness about ongoing threat and an overly extreme sense of skepticism about state protection. At first glance it is difficult to comprehend fully why states would often select ineffective means of protecting their citizens, assuming the availability of other options when it appears that there are incentives for them to choose effective ones, particularly within societies with responsive forms of government, and why citizens would often mischaracterize their own security predicament when they have a direct on-the-ground view of their plight and seem to have incentives to view their own safety accurately. In exploring these puzzles through detailed international case study analysis, this text investigation consciously deviates from some prevailing orthodox assumptions. It calls into question the desirability of the political centrality of state authority and of the prevailing economic and cultural norms in today's world opening up serious questions about when and how existing structures and values contribute to increasing rather than decreasing human insecurity for the average world citizen

Trans-Asia as Method Jeroen de Kloet, Yiu Fai Chow, Gladys Pak Lei Chong, 2019-11-06 This rich collection of essays offers a multi and interdisciplinary discussion of trans Asia approaches from critical theory historical studies cultural studies to film studies In doing so the authors lay down the groundwork for a more inclusive knowledge production and fruitful transnational collaboration The authors engage with the implications of trans Asia using a range of empirical cases At the heart of the book is a desire and attempt to give a grounded understanding of what trans Asia approaches are by examining human mobilities media culture flows and connections across Asia and beyond in four key aspects cross border flows and connections inter Asian comparison and referencing transnational and de nationalized approaches and cross border collaboration

Handbook on Border Criminology Mary Bosworth, Katja Franko, Maggy Lee, Rimple Mehta, 2024-12-09 This topical Handbook investigates the nature and impact of intersections between border control and criminal justice Using comparative and decolonial perspectives it demonstrates the corrosive effect of harsh border practices not just on those subject to them but to many of the key principles of liberal democracy

The 1951 Convention Relating to the Status of Refugees and its 1967 Protocol, 2024-01-10 The Convention Relating to the Status of Refugees adopted on 28 July 1951 in Geneva continues to provide the most comprehensive codification of the rights of refugees yet attempted Consolidating previous international instruments relating to refugees the 1951 Convention with its 1967 Protocol marks a cornerstone in the development of international refugee law At present there are 149 States Parties to one or both of these instruments expressing a worldwide consensus on the definition of the term refugee and the fundamental rights to be granted to refugees These facts demonstrate and underline the extraordinary significance of these instruments as the indispensable legal basis of international refugee law This Commentary provides for a systematic and comprehensive analysis of the 1951 Convention and the 1967 Protocol on an article by article basis exposing the interrelationship between the different articles and discussing the latest developments in international refugee law In addition several thematic contributions analyse questions of international refugee law which are of general significance such as regional developments the interrelationship between refugee law and general human rights law as well as the relationship between refugee law and the law of the sea

Civil War Extra: A newspaper history of the Civil War from Nat Turner to 1863 Eric Caren, 1999 This two volume collection of newspapers is one of the most important Civil War publications ever produced and it brings the events of the war vividly in focus A unique of the moment perspective it begins with the Nat Turner slave insurrection and covers every battle many by the local papers for a truly firsthand up close view Lincoln's election inauguration and assassination are given full coverage Caren's extensive collection includes many extremely rare Southern editions which would never be seen except in this remarkable publication Loaded with engravings depicting battles military leaders and maps this is an absolutely essential addition to any enthusiast's collection
