Foreign Capital In Developing Economies Perspectives From The Theory Of Economic Growth:

Foreign Capital In Developing Economies Stefano Manzocchi, 2016-01-06 The object of this volume is to evaluate the pattern and the function of foreign capital in developing countries in a long run perspective The main conceptual instruments employed are the theory of economic growth and the techniques associated with recent advances in growth econometrics This empirical work points out that there is no mechanical trade off between the short term dangers and the long run gains from capital market integration but the growth benefits of foreign capital in transforming economies are conditional on an effective destination of the resources Over borrowing and excessive consumption are the main pitfalls in the short as in the long run Nevertheless foreign capital can be conducive to faster growth and possibly higher welfare Development Centre Seminars Foreign Direct Investment versus other Flows to Latin America OECD, Inter-American Development Bank, 2001-03-05 Proceedings of the 11th International Forum on Latin American Perspectives which discussed the desirability of foreign direct investment over other flows such as bank lending The Oxford Handbook of International Business Alan M. Rugman, Thomas L. Brewer, 2001-08-31 The Oxford Handbook of International Business comprises twenty eight original chapters from the world's most distinguished scholars in the field of international business United as a whole these reflect both the present structure of the field and the major intellectual issues of current and likely future interest Demonstrating analytical insight and critical thinking the authors are all authorities on their chosen topics and have been active as leaders in the Academy of International Business Their chapters survey and synthesize relevant literature of recent years ensuring that the volume will be a primary reference for students and scholars throughout the social sciences The book is split into five major sections providing comprehensive coverage of the following areas the history and theory of the multinational enterprise the political and policy environment of international business strategies of multinational enterprises the financial areas of the multinational enterprise marketing finance and accounting HRM and innovation and business systems in Asia South America and the transitional economies Infrastructure Investments in Developing Economies Giang Dang, Low Sui Pheng, 2014-10-18 This book aims to provide knowledge on how infrastructure is planned and built in a typical developing country and what key variables are there in the system limiting the efficient use of public investments in infrastructure The book begins with a comprehensive literature review on construction and economic development and trade and economic development The focus of the book is on the case of Vietnam with lessons drawn for other developing economies The book employs the mixed use of data to provide a stronger basis for analysis and interpretation of related government policies Based on the research findings the book recommends significant capacity building work for Vietnam to develop capacities that would remove constraints on the efficient use of public investments in infrastructure The general principles of significant capacity building work which are useful for policy implications are introduced in the book Analysts academics public and private communities in developing countries can adopt the research findings as guiding principles to bring about changes in their current use of public investments in infrastructure thus supporting their trade and economic growth in the long term Financial Globalization and the Emerging Economies United Nations. Economic Commission for Latin America and the Caribbean, 2000 Financial globalisation has been a dynamic element in recent years with large capital flows to a number of emerging economies in Latin America and Asia often being followed by financial crises Eurasian Economic Perspectives Mehmet Huseyin Bilgin, Hakan Danis, Ender Demir, Ugur Can, 2019-04-03 This volume of Eurasian Studies in Business and Economics includes selected papers from the 22nd Eurasia Business and Economics Society EBES Conference in Rome It gathers scholarly contributions on the latest applied economics research from developing countries such as Croatia Poland the Baltic and ASEAN countries which tend to be underrepresented in the current literature Both the theoretical and empirical papers in this volume cover diverse areas of economic research from various regions The main focus is on sharing the latest findings on empirical industrial organization in particular the economics of innovation regional economic development dynamics and banking sector reforms in developing countries Foreign Direct Investment Leena Ajit Kaushal, 2019-04-29 This research based book offers insight to the changing perspectives regarding FDI from traditional theory to new theory from local to global link and from opportunity to responsibility Readers will understand the various factors determinants and theories that underpin the presence of firms in the global economy The author illustrates by way of case studies specific implications of FDI policy and practice on issues like ecology and environment technology transfer labor market and relevance of further liberalization policies in FDI in the context of Indian economy The coverage for such an important theme is too vast to cover in a single volume therefore this volume restricts its analysis to a select few themes in hopes that this endeavor will trigger an ongoing debate on myriad aspects and concerns of FDI on countries like India

Development Centre, 2001 Proceedings of the 11th International Forum on Latin American Perspectives which discussed the desirability of foreign direct investment over other flows such as bank lending Outsiders in Economic Integration Stefano Manzocchi, Gianmarco I. P. Ottaviano, 1999 Indian Journal of Economics, 2006 World Development Report 2009 World Bank, 2008-11-04 Rising densities of human settlements migration and transport to reduce distances to market and specialization and trade facilitated by fewer international divisions are central to economic development The transformations along these three dimensions density distance and division are most noticeable in North America Western Europe and Japan but countries in Asia and Eastern Europe are changing in ways similar in scope and speed World Development Report 2009 Reshaping Economic Geography concludes that these spatial transformations are essential and should be encouraged The conclusion is not without controversy Slum dwellers now number a billion but the rush to cities continues Globalization is believed to benefit many but not the billion people living in lagging areas of developing nations High poverty and mortality persist among the world's bottom billion while others grow wealthier and live longer lives. Concern for these three billion often comes with the prescription that growth must be made spatially balanced. The WDR has a different message: economic growth is seldom balanced and efforts to spread it out prematurely will jeopardize progress. The Report documents how production becomes more concentrated spatially as economies grow, proposes economic integration as the principle for promoting successful spatial transformations, revisits the debates on urbanization, territorial development and regional integration, and shows how today's developers can reshape economic geography.

How Can Cambodia, Lao PDR, Myanmar, and Viet Nam Cope with Revenue Lost Due to AFTA Tariff Reductions? Kanokpan Lao-Araya, 2008-12. In joining the Assoc of Southeast Asian Nations (ASEAN) and ASEAN Free Trade Area (AFTA), Cambodia, Lao PDR, Myanmar and Viet Nam have agreed to comply with the Common Effective Preferential Tariff (CEPT) Scheme which reduces intra-ASEAN tariff rates on certain imports and may reduce government revenue. This study proposes tax structure and tax administration reforms and other policies that can be introduced to enhance revenue collection. They can strategically allocate goods among the four CEPT scheme lists, improve their tax systems by replacing traditional general sales taxes with Value Added Tax, reduce inefficiencies that impede tax collection and discourage tax avoidance and evasion, and reduce corruption among tax officials.

The Politics of International Economic Relations Joan Edelman Spero, Jeffrey A. Hart, 2003. The sixth edition of this text gives greater emphasis to economic globalization and focuses on changes that continue to reshape the international arena. Coverage of political and economic relations, economic polarization in developing nations and the forces of economic change in former communist countries.

Macroeconomic Issues from a Keynesian Perspective A. P. Thirlwall, 1997. This important volume brings together 22 major essays written by A. P. Thirlwall over the last 30 years in the field of macroeconomics and in particular on multiplier analysis, unemployment, inflation, growth and the balance of payments. These outstanding essays make pioneering contributions such as the input-output formulation of the foreign trade multiplier, the derivation and use of the dynamic Harrod foreign trade multiplier, the measurements of types of unemployment, the estimation of regional Phillips curves and the formalization of Kaldor's model of regional growth rate differences. Many of the essays are written from a Keynesian perspective and the recent revival of interest in Keynesian economics means that the essays are as relevant today as when they were written, especially those on the nature of unemployment, the causes of inflation and the link between the balance of payments and economic growth.

Macroeconomic Issues from a Keynesian Perspective will be of interest not only to professional economists but also to policymakers in developed and developing countries for the insights it provides into the functioning of the macroeconomy.
