European Community Decision Making Bruce Bueno de Mesquita, Frans N. Stokman, 1994 This pathbreaking book illuminates the politics of issue resolution within the European Community with evaluations and comparisons of competing models of decision making across twenty two policy issues Written by American and Dutch scholars the book will be of great interest to students of comparative politics public policy analysts mathematic modelers and all those concerned with the development of the European Community One set of models explored in this volume the expected utility model treats politics as a conflictual activity while the other the exchange or log rolling model emphasizes the cooperative nature of political processes The alternative approaches model decision making in fundamentally different ways and make very different predictions about how issues in the European Community will be resolved To facilitate direct comparison of their predictive and explanatory value the models in this volume are based on the same variables the potential control of actors over outcomes the salience of the issues for the actors and the outcomes preferred by the actors The contributors test their models in the context of sixteen issues already resolved by the Council of Ministers and six issues currently under consideration providing the reader with considerable knowledge about the controversies surrounding European Community policy on such topics as automobile emissions nuclear radiation norms air transport liberalization and the European banking system They conclude that the conflictual model and the cooperative model are less competitive and more complementary than has been thought and they explain in detail how the models can be fruitfully combined

France and the European Union Emiliano Grossman, 2020-11-25 The character of international trade has changed dramatically over the past twenty years Previously published as a special issue of The Journal of European Public Policy this volume provides a state of the art study of the new trade politics

Preferences and Procedures Torsten J. Selck, 2006-07-02 Preferences and Procedures presents and tests game theoretic models of European Union legislative decision making It is inspired by the idea of linking statistical testing strategies firmly to formal models of EU policymaking After describing salient features of the EU legislative process and comparing different models of how the EU negotiates new legislative measures the models predictive power is evaluated On a more general level Preferences and Procedures answers questions regarding the empirically recognizable effects of institutional arrangements on joint bargaining outcomes
