Drive Thru Annette Snyder:

Drive Thru Annette Snyder, 2010-06-01 Love isn't one of Marie Packard's priorities. Single parenthood and a hectic work schedule occupy her unruffled life. Necessities represent security. Life is slow and easy and that works for her. Ellis Donifan loves the draw of attention from paparazzi and fans. Each film coupled with shouting fans and action of the set is another star on his walk of fame. Life is a whirlwind of hectic activity and he likes it that way. The frenzied movie star schedule isn't the choice for Ben Sutter but having a celebrity as a client has its perks. Posh hotels, world travel, and a substantial salary are the norm, and fame-seeking starlets are part of limousine driver territory. It isn't perfect but that's Hollywood. What happens on a stormy winter night when three people find their lives entwined purely by accident? Can Ellis curb his desire for publicity? Can Ben put aside uncertainties about overzealous fans? Will Marie choose financial security with the debonair action film star or emotional happiness with a charming limousine driver? Genre: Contemporary Romance Citizen Airman, 1998 Eating Architecture Jamie Horwitz, Paulette Singley, 2006-02-17 A highly original collection of essays that explore the relationship between food and architecture, the preparation of meals, and the production of space. The contributors to this highly original collection of essays explore the relationship between food and architecture, asking what can be learned by examining the often metaphorical intersection of the preparation of meals and the production of space. In a culture that includes the Food Channel and the knife-juggling chefs of Benihana, food has become not only an obsession but an alternative art form. The nineteen essays in Eating Architecture seize this moment to investigate how art and architecture engage issues of identity, ideology, conviviality, memory, and loss that cookery evokes. This is a book for all those who opt for the combination platter of cultural inquiry as well as for the readers of M.F.K. Fisher and Ruth Reichl. The essays are organized into four sections that lead the reader from the landscape to the kitchen, the table, and finally the mouth. The essays in Place Settings examine the relationships between food and location that arise in culinary colonialism and the global economy of tourism. Philosophy in the Kitchen traces the routines that create a site for aesthetic experimentation, including an examination of gingerbread houses as art, food, and architectural space. The essays in Table Rules consider the spatial and performative aspects of eating and the ways in which shared meals are among the most perishable and preserved cultural artifacts. Finally, Embodied Taste considers the sensual apprehension of food and what it means to consume a work of art. The Gallery of Recipes contains images by contemporary architects on the subject of eating architecture. The Mountaineer, 1953 Who's who in America John W.
