Dti Solar Installation Guide:

Renewable Energy in Energy Performance Regulations Milou Beerepoot, 2004 This research focuses on the possibilities for combining the introduction of the new or revised energy performance regulations required by the EC Energy Performance of Buildings Directive EPBD with incentives to encourage the use of renewable energy It reflects the results of the European research project Build On RES that studied the track record of possible incentives and developed recommendations for creating synergy between the promotion of renewable energy and the implementation of the EPBD Both technical solutions as solutions in the context of energy performance regulations have been studied The results of the research show that the introduction of reviewed energy performance regulations can pave the way for amongst others extra incentives for renewable energy such as a renewable energy accreditation to accompany the energy certificate or an explicit indication of the share of renewable energy in the output of the energy performance calculation Environmental Design Randall Thomas, 2006-06-07 Written and edited by a team of specialists at Max Fordham LLP one of the UK's leading environmental and building services engineering consultancies Environmental Design is the result of their extensive experience in designing environmentally friendly buildings The principles of their approach which they have taught in numerous schools of architecture and engineering are clearly presented here The book starts with some basic scientific principles and environmental issues and then moves on to site planning energy use materials and building form Natural ventilation systems high efficiency mechanical equipment and alternative energy sources are also covered State of the art buildings of exceptional quality are incorporated throughout the text and illustrate the authors belief that environmentally responsible architecture can be visually exciting They conclude with a selection of detailed case studies of award winning projects including new for this third edition Beaufort Court King's Langley and the National Trust Headquarters Swindon This book is essential reading for architects engineers planners and students of these disciplines Renewable Energy Sources for Buildings Andrew Thorne, 2006 Regional Industrial Buying Guide, 2003 Scientific and Technical Aerospace Reports, 1986 The British National Bibliography Arthur James Wells, 2007 Affordability and the Supply of Housing Great Britain: Parliament: House of Commons: ODPM: Housing, Planning, Local Government and the Regions Committee, 2006-06-20 The Committee's report finds that the Government's plans for a major house building programme are based on the widespread belief that increasing the volume of housing stock is the most important way to tackle the crisis of unaffordable housing in the UK however as housing policy is increasingly based on household growth projections it is important that these projections are kept under review as firmer information becomes available Promoting homeownership is an underlying objective of the Government's programme but although it offers unparalleled opportunities for some households to accumulate wealth it is not a viable option for many others and therefore the provision of social housing for rent should be given equal priority A simple supply and demand model cannot be applied to the housing market and the multitude of factors affecting house prices means that it is very difficult to support an increase in housing supply simply on the basis of improving affordability The report also highlights concerns that local authority powers to prioritise developments on brown field sites in urban areas should not be eroded and that the house building programme in the wider South East will have to be carefully managed as it is an area with major water shortages and significant flood plains BRE Digest ,2006 School DEEL Resource Manual ,2005 Home Power ,2007 Building Services Journal ,2005 Parliamentary Debates (Hansard).
